

Electrotest Marine Ltd

HEALTH & SAFETY POLICY STATEMENT

Electrotest Marine Ltd is committed to ensuring the safety of its employees, customers, members of the public and anyone else who are affected by our operations. The Company commits to operating in accordance with the Health and Safety at Work (etc) Act 1974, The Management of Health & Safety Regulations 1999 and all other applicable regulations and codes of practice, so far as is reasonably practicable. The management will ensure that significant risks are assessed and suitable and sufficient measures are adopted to allow each employee or subcontractor to carry out his/her duties safely and without risk to health. Suitable equipment will be provided and maintained in a safe condition and safe systems of work will be devised.

The Company shall strive to achieve continuous improvement in Health & Safety performance.

The Company also recognises our responsibility towards the environment and will ensure that our activities are carried out without detriment to the environment.

Each employee/subcontractor will be made aware of his/her responsibility for his/her own health and safety and that of others. All employees/subcontractors will be given the opportunity to consult with the management on matters relating to Health & Safety, or to appoint a representative to do so.

Where necessary the Company will arrange or provide suitable training for both management and operatives, in particular where new work practices/equipment/products are introduced.

The Company will seek external advice as necessary to keep its health & safety policy, working practices and equipment up to date and in accordance with current legislation.

Ultimate responsibility in all areas of safety rests with the Director. This duty is of no less importance than any of the responsibilities attached to that position.

Our Health and Safety Policy will be reviewed annually or as necessary in the event of significant changes or legislation in the way we operate.
